

Guidelines to Join a Society:

Joining a society at TIET is simple and open to all students. Here's how you can get involved:

1. Eligibility: All students enrolled at TIET are eligible to join societies. Whether you're a first year student or a graduate student, you are welcome to become a member of any society that interests you.

2. How to Join:

Step 1: Visit our [Student Society Portal/Website] to explore the full list of societies available. Each society has a description of its activities, goals, and how to join.

Step 2: Fill out the membership form for the society or societies you'd like to join. You can find the forms on the society's page on the portal.

Step 3: Attend the society's introductory/orientation meeting or event. These are held at the beginning of each semester and provide an opportunity to meet current members, ask questions, and get a feel for the society.

Step 4: Actively participate! Societies thrive on the contributions of their members. Whether you're attending meetings, volunteering for events, or helping to organize activities, your involvement is key to the success of the society.

3. Society Membership Guidelines:

Commitment: We encourage you to engage regularly with the society. Active participation in meetings, events, and projects helps you make the most of your membership and build strong connections.

Respect and Inclusivity: Our societies are spaces where all students should feel welcome and valued. We encourage respect for different viewpoints, backgrounds, and experiences.

Collaboration: Societies are about teamwork, and every member is important. Whether you're leading a project or helping with an event, collaborative efforts ensure the success of society initiatives.
